Key Services

Our services are available in five different packages – select the one that is most relevant for you, or take advantage of all five.

What is IP Booster?

IP Booster is a new specialised professional IP service for public research organisations looking to realise value out of their research results.

Our experts will examine your case and guide you towards the best intellectual property strategy for your public research organisation, at no cost to you and fully supported by the European Commission.

If your public research organisation is:

- Generating high-quality research, and eager to improve its impact on the market
- Trying to better address IP issues associated with commercialisation
- Searching for experts who can help you develop a successful intellectual property strategy

Then our services are what you need.

“Scientia est potentia only when knowledge is analysed, interpreted, translated in-to strategy and finally put into use”

When should I apply?

The call for applications is continuously open, assessments of applications will be carried out at regular intervals.

The deadline to be considered for the second assessment round is 31 October.
